Sheltered workshop meeting scheduled

The program for exceptional children in Putnam County has received a considerable boost through TITLE VI funds. However, many handicapped children will not be capable of reaching a level of education and training that will enable them to be successful, in terms of employment within the community, immediately after graduation from high school or completing academic requirements that would enable them to leave the school setting.

Therefore, it is desired to explore the feasibility of establishing a "Sheltered Workshop" in Putnam County that can serve as a "half-way" house for these children that need supervised assistance in developing disciplines, attitudes and work habits, that are necessary in order to become successful employees in industry or other community employment. In addition, those individuals, whose handicap creates the need for direct job supervision during the adult years, may be able to function in a sheltered workshop position on a permanent basis.

The sheltered workshop proposal will be a community sponsored activity and its success will depend upon support received through community efforts. It is hoped to be able to serve, not only handicapped children, from the local school systems, but other handicapped individuals needing assistance as well.

An organizational meeting will be held on April 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria at Miller School on Anderson Street to discuss ways and means of developing a Sheltered Workshop that will realistically meet community needs. Committees will be appointed to seek information and answers to questions regarding problems involved in the development of this type of facility. Any and all persons interested in this project are urged to attend this meeting.

LBJ proclaims Sunday as national day of mourning

Editor's note: Mayor Norman Peabody announced that Greencastle will observe the President's message declaring Sunday as a national day of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King. Details were not complete at the time the Mayor disclosed the plans for the parade, but it was thought proceedings would start at the Baptist Church in the south end of town and head through the uptown area.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson Friday proclaimed Sunday a national day of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King.

Johnson, before issuing the proclamation, told a White House meeting of top Negro and government leaders "America shall not be ruled by the bullet."

The President hastily arranged the meeting after King's assassination — took to the streets in more than a dozen big city ghettos, smashing windows, looting and hurling bricks.

In designating Sunday a national day of mourning, Johnson urged the nation to pray for an end to racial hatred.

"In our churches, in our homes, in our private hearts, let us resolve before God to stand against the divisiveness in our country and all its consequences," the President said.

Johnson attended memorial services for the slain Negro leader at Washington's National Cathedral after the meeting at which he issued an appeal to the nation "to deny violence its victory in this sorrowful time."

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, whose husband was also slain by an assassin's bullet, issued an emotional appeal to the nation for an end to racial violence and hatred.

"When will our country learn that to live by the sword is to die by the sword?" Mrs. Kennedy asked.

Powell predicts "hot summer"

MIAMI (UPI) — Deposed Harlem Congressman Adam Clayton Powell said today the slaying of Martin Luther King had "struck down nonviolence with violence."

He predicted America was in for "a long hot summer."

Powell, en route to his Bimini retreat after recuperating from exhaustion in the Duke University Hospital, said disillusioned young followers of King "are going to ally themselves with the black militants."

"It was going to be a long hot summer anyway," Powell said. "Now the problem is that nonviolence has been struck down by violence. Disillusioned young people in the King camp are going to ally themselves with the black militants."

"It's going to be a tremendous army."

Powell would not predict how the leadership of American Negroes would emerge with the slaying of King.

"It's a vacuum now. The old crowd is gone," he said.

State parks open next weekend

State Parks will begin their Spring schedule of charging gate admissions on weekends starting Friday, April 12, it is announced by the Indiana Department of Natural Resources.

The same schedule and charges prevail at all State Parks.

Until May 24, admission charges will prevail from 3 p.m.

Friday and all day Saturday and Sunday. After May 24, there will be daily charges until the end of Labor Day, when the 2-1/2 day weekend schedule will be restored.

To speed up traffic through admission gates and also to enable Hoosier families to enjoy more State Park visits at a minimum cost, two new blanket charges have been established. A season pass costing $10 will admit a non-commercial passenger automobile, its driver and all its occupants to all State Parks an unlimited number of times throughout 1968. The pass also is good for all State Recreation Areas and State Memorials.

A $1 flat charge will be made for one visit to any State Park, admitting a non-commercial passenger automobile, its driver and all occupants.

"This is the biggest outdoor recreation bargain in America," says John E. Mitchell, Director of the Indiana Department of Natural Resources. "The purpose is to acquaint as many Hoosier families as possible with all of their State Parks, and also to eliminate the long time waits at entrance gates which sometimes have occurred on big weekends and holidays."

Since the Indiana State Park system was founded in 1916, the policy has been to use revenue from admission charges and other fees to finance the operation and maintenance of recreation properties. No general tax revenue is used for this purpose.

A continuing program of construction and rehabilitation at existing State Parks and the creation of new facilities is expected to make 1968 a banner attendance year for Indiana State Parks, Mitchell said.

House gets fish measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Thursday authorized funding a $5 million program to combat the smelly alewife fish die-offs in Lake Michigan and other Great Lake areas.

Passed by voice vote the measure now goes to the House. Under the bill, the Interior Department would join with state officials in conducting studies aimed at restoring the ecological balance affected in recent years by annual alewife population increases and summer die-offs.

The die-off stems from an increase in Great Lake eels. The eels ate game fish which had thrived on the tiny alewives. As the game fish were devoured, the alewives increased.

One plane involves stocking the lake with alewife-eating fish. Recent samples of the alewife population have indicated the die-offs would continue for several years, despite the proposed program.

Bainbridge Thespian Troupe to present play

The Bainbridge Thespian Troupe 1478, in conjunction with the music department presents "Little Mary Sunshine" at 8:00 on April 19th and 20th.

The play, music and lyrics written by Rick Besoyan was written as a spoof of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas of the 1930's. "Little Mary Sunshine" is the third longest running off-Broadway production.

The story line, although melodramatic, has many comic moments. Little Mary, owner of the Colorado Inn, finds herself owing back taxes on her mortgaged land. Although twelve Eastchester Finishing School girls and (conveniently) twelve Forest Rangers are her guests at the Inn, she still finds it difficult to make ends meet. She therefore resorts to selling homemade cookies. She makes very little profit from the endeavor so by the end of the first act she is sobbing in the arms of Madame Ernestine Von Liebedich.

During the intermission Mary and the rest of the cast dry their tears and the second act opens with a grand party. Captain Jim, to whom Little Mary has pledged her heart, Corporal Billy Jester and the rest of the Forest Rangers leave to search out and capture a dangerous Kadota Indian, Yellow Feather. The Young Ladies are very much disturbed that their husbands-to-be must leave their sides, but Nancy Twinkle, Little Mary's maid-servant, soon cheers them, telling them about that notorious woman spy, Mata Hari. Nancy disguises herself and sets out to find Billy to help him capture Yellow Feather. They return to the Inn to find General Oscar Fairfax, a government representative, waiting to make a presentation. He reports that the land that the Inn is on and one-fourth of the state of Colorado belongs to Big Chief Brown Bear who just happens to be Mary's Indian father. He in turn deeds the land the Inn is on to Mary and gives the rest to Billy Jester, his newly adopted son.

All mourn the death of Martin Luther King

By United Press International

Hoosiers, both black and white, mourned the murder of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King.

Gary Mayor Richard G. Hatcher, one of the nation's first elected Negro mayors, said King's death "is every man's loss."

"We are all the survivors of this great leader... we are shocked, saddened beyond imagination and eternally diminished."

Hatcher said King "changed the world. He changed it enduringly far beyond the power of hatred to rescind."

Indiana University president Dr. Elvis J. Stahr said King's "courage, his eloquence, the nobility of his aims, and of his life should inspire men and women of every race to redouble their determination to put away hate forever."

"Dr. King has dedicated his life to the cause of full brotherhood among all human beings—regardless of race—a cause in which millions of other human beings—white and black—deeply believe."

Rev. Edmund Joyce, executive vice president of the University of Notre Dame, said King was "a leader and a prophet whose loss to our country is indeed a real disaster."

"I am sure I speak for the entire Notre Dame Community in deploring this senseless tragedy and expressing condolences to his widow, his children and to his millions of faithful, heart-sick disciples," Father Joyce said.

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of thinking teen-agers across the country already has cast a vote in the presidential elections to come—and the two men put at the top are Robert F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon.

But the teen-agers voted before President Johnson's sudden and dramatic announcement he would not be a candidate for reelection. They had put the President third in preference. The name of Vice President Humphrey did not show in the voting, apparently because they thought he would be teamed with Johnson in a race.

Student Survey

Presidential choices of high schoolers and their stands on national and international issues came in a survey of 1165 school newspaper editors. Scholastic Roto, a publication for high school students, made the survey of more than 2300 editors and 51 per cent responded. Results are in the publication's current issue.

DEAR HELOISE:

I made a king-size desk out of 2 two-drawer filing cabinets that are 29 inches high. (You can spray paint 'em, cover sides with adhesive-backed plastic or leave as is.)

I bought a thick, plywood board six feet long and made sure it was wide enough to cover the depth of the filing cabinets. I covered this with the laminated plastic used on kitchen counters (it's so easy to do), and filed the edges smooth with a metal file.

Then I just laid the board across the divided cabinets (leaving knee-hole room) and I had a wonderful, roomy desk with plenty of efficient drawer space. (Also one that comes apart easily for storing or packing, plus a scratch-resistant surface.)

Mine is a heavenly six feet long and three feet wide. I use every inch of it.

Oh, Clare, just think of all the teenagers who are going to adore you. So many of them can't afford those expensive, huge desks.

Anyone can buy second-hand filing cabinets and plywood is inexpensive. Wouldn't this be great in a woman's kitchen?

Love to you, pal. You're a smarty if there ever was one.

DEAR HELOISE:

When small children want to suck on an ice cube, they have a hard time hanging on to it. I put a piece of nylon net around the cube and tied it.

This made the ice easy to hold and they were still able to enjoy it.

DEAR HELOISE:

It is true that a lump of sugar dropped into a bottle of olive oil AS SOON AS YOU OPEN THE BOTTLE will prevent the oil from becoming rancid almost indefinitely. The sugar does not change the taste of the olive oil.

DEAR HELOISE:

The other day my girl friend and I were baking a cake for her sister's birthday. When I started to put the icing on the cake it wouldn't stick to the cake... it only stuck to the knife.

So I put the knife into a glass of water for a minute or two and when I tried to spread the icing again, it went on perfectly.

DEAR HELOISE:

A real slick trick, eh? Thanks, Bev.

DEAR HELOISE:

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

The only thing that frustrates me is the fact that I have no hint to share with you.

Really, am I that dumb?

Devoted Fan

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a hint for someone who takes care of a bedridden patient.

When my husband was ill and it became difficult for him to turn over, the side he was lying on often became red and very painful.

I bought a large piece of foam rubber (at least 1 1/2" thick) and cut one piece large enough to fit under his head. I cut a round hole (a little larger than his ear) and put this large piece of foam on top of the pillow, fitting his ear into the hole in the foam. This relieved pressure on the ear.

I also cut a square of the foam to place between his knees and one to put under his hips.

These easy-to-do, inexpensive things, plus a thin foam rubber mattress pad, will give much comfort to a patient.

God bless you, Margaret, for a suggestion to help ease the suffering of others. You must be a great woman.

DEAR HELOISE:

In my home I have 29 venetian blinds! To dust them, I take a clean dust mop head, slip it over my hand and dust away.

I do our books the same way without ever removing them from the shelves.

Barbara Marta

Asks study of curriculum

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—The University of Notre Dame has asked faculty members and students to evaluate its curriculum.

A memo to professors by the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president, said "either this study will persuade us that we are doing the best possible job educating the young men who come to Notre Dame or that, in keeping with whatever recommendations emerge from the study, we may be able to bring about the changes necessary to that end."

Father Hesburgh said administrative changes have occupied major attention in the last few years and "now would appear to be the time to take a close soul-searching look at the basic reasons for all administrative reorganization, namely the quality of our educational efforts."

Paper assails Red coalition

WARSAW (UPI) — A pro-government Roman Catholic newspaper Thursday criticized the all-powerful ruling Communist coalition for not allowing the people more voice in government and called for more democracy in Poland's socialist system.

The attack by Slow Pow-szczyn against the Communist-dominated national unity front was mild but considered surprising. The editorial came in the midst of a wave of dismissals of high-ranking government officials and followed student demands for reforms and more freedom.

The latest to be dismissed was Daniel Kac, chairman of the Office of State Economic Reserves, the Polish news agency Pap reported. He was the 21st person known to be removed from a position of responsibility since the shakeup began in the wake of student demonstrations. Most have been Jews but it was not known whether Kac was Jewish.

Polish Jews have been blamed for helping stir student unrest.

Earlier the party newspaper Trubuna Ludu reported the dismissal of two officials of the state organized Central Council of Trade Unions was under consideration. The usually reticent press hinted the purge might penetrate the top leadership of the Communist government.

THE ROAD TO INDEPENDENCE finds these 30 "travelers" at its end in Africa, a march that began in 1957. Regimes have changed many times, some more than once over night, but the unrest subsided somewhat from year to year.

Court rules Robles is President

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—The Panama supreme court today ruled that President Marco A.

Robles was the country's legal head of state and said the national assembly violated his rights by voting to oust him.

The court voted 8 to 1 to support Robles against the assembly, dominated by opposition parties who named a new president. The ruling provided the basis for continued support of Robles by the national guard which has kept him in the office pending the court decision.

Robles was impeached last month for illegally using the powers of his office to support his party's candidate for president. The assembly convicted him of the charges March 24. But he refused to step down and permit his vice president, Max Delvalle, to succeed him.

Delvalle and the opposition majority announced in advance they would not recognize the court decision. They did not elaborate on what action they would take.

Elections are scheduled in May.

Selective service information

Set out below, according to Colonel Robert K. Custer, State Director of the Indiana Selective Service System, are questions most frequently asked of the Selective Service System along with appropriate answers.

Q - At the present time I am in my third year of graduate work for a doctoral degree. It will be necessary for me to transfer to another university for the last two years because of the curriculum offered. If I do transfer, may I retain my II-S student deferment?

A - Yes, providing there is not any interruption in your study program and your new school certifies that you are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction leading to a degree. The II-S deferment may be granted, in your case, for only two more years as there is a five year limitation for graduate school, inclusive of the years already used in such course of study. Be sure to inform your local board of your plans.

Q - What is the classification given to those registrants who are attending one of the service academies?

Try our delicious new FREE COUNTRY CLUB Canned Ham Recipe

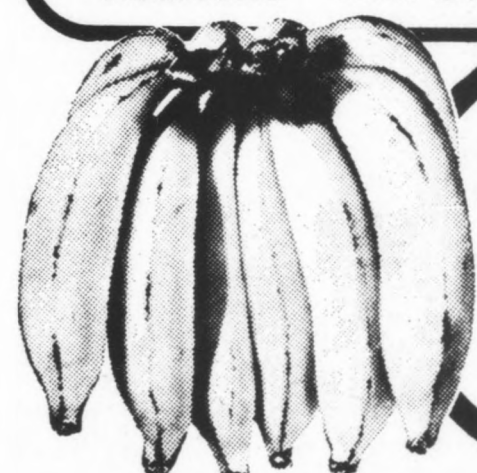

Select one five pound pre-cooked (tenderized) ham. Place fat side up in center of large piece of aluminum wrap in baking pan. Mix one can (6-oz.) Kroger frozen concentrated orange juice with 1 1/4 cup brown sugar and 1/2 cup A.1. Steak Sauce. Pour half of this mixture over ham and wrap loosely in the foil. Bake at 350 for 10 to 15 minutes per pound. About 1/2 hour before serving, remove from oven and open foil. Spread liberally with the orange juice, brown sugar and A.1. Sauce mixture. Increase heat to 400°, leaving aluminum wrap open to complete baking time. Baste frequently with remainder of sauce to give the ham a good glaze. Serves 6-8 people.

For a delicious sauce to spoon over the cooked ham slices when served, simply skim the fat from the sauce in the bottom of the foil and reheat sauce in a saucepan.

Who Says A House Is Not a Purse?

HOUSTON (UPI) — Have you ever seen a log cabin that flips its lid? Or a Cape Cod cottage that stores lipstick, loose change and other necessary items?

Mercedes Hitchcock, a Houston housewife, designs them. Actually the miniature buildings are handbags. To open them, you simply lift one side of the roof.

Mrs. Hitchcock's husband, Joe, makes the pine wood boxes, and she intricately paints on windows, doors, bricks, trees. The final product is covered with a fine film of plastic glaze.

Included in the construction is papier-mache. Mrs. Hitchcock says part of her art theory is that you can do almost anything with papier-mache as long as you know what materials to use for special effects.

The mother of four, however, will not reveal the secret technique for making logs and stone chimneys of the cabin-styled handbag so realistic.

Mrs. Hitchcock has a dozen different "houses" most of which she keeps for personal use and display.

Some Houston ladies, though, have found that for the right charitable cause, Mrs. Hitchcock will commission her services and put what she calls her "art on your arm" up for sale.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Senator Robert Kennedy asked Negroes "who are tempted to be filled with hatred at the injustice" of Martin Luther King's assassination to remember the grief of his family when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

Kennedy's last speech Thursday in a day of Indiana campaigning as a presidential candidate came at an outdoor rally in a Negro neighborhood of near-downtown Indianapolis. At earlier speeches and question and answer sessions in South Bend and Muncie, Kennedy said there is a need for greater fairness about the draft and more dedication to ending hunger and deprivation.

When his airplane landed at Indianapolis Weir Cook Airport and Robert and Ethel Kennedy were told of King's slaying, there was a consultation aboard the plane. Then Kennedy kissed Ethel reassuringly and announced he would speak at the rally as planned.

Mentions Slain Brother
Kennedy's impromptu and emotion-charged speech contained what staff members said was the first mention Robert has made to a campaign crowd of the events of Nov. 22, 1963.

"To those of you who are black and who are tempted to be filled with hatred at the injustice of such an act against all white people, I can also feel in my own heart the same kind of feeling," he told the predominantly Negro audience gathered on an outdoor basketball court.

The 4-H County Share-The-Fun Contest was held Monday, April 1st, at the Greencastle Jr. High School. We had many good acts and I think that all of them deserve much recognition. The contest is divided into two categories--curtain act, which includes, five or less members and the length of time is not over five minutes; and the group act, which is five or more members with a time limit of not over ten minutes.

There were twelve curtain acts with Frank Kays of Floyd Township being the winner. Frank is a very outstanding tap dancer, he has been taking tap dancing lessons for approximately eight years. The winner of the group act was from Northeast School - the name of the act was Knights and Knights Laugh In, the participants of this group act were Holly Knights, Heidi Knights, Dede Pershing, Susan Robertson, Stephanie Durham, Judy Penturi, and Marsha Carpenter.

The two top winners will represent Putnam County in the District Share-The-Fun Contest, which will be held in Brazil on Thursday, April 4th. The other winners in the curtain act are as follows: (listed according to their placing)

Baton Solo - Nancy Arnold
Acrobatic Dance - Michele Smith
Piano Solo - Pam Pershing
Harp Solo - Rebecca Aker
Dance-Twirl Duet - Tammy Lahley and Suzanne McGaughey
Tap Dance Duet - Cathy Delp and Jennifer Stevens

Vocal Solo - Margie McCam-mack
Vocal Solo - Sharon Stamper
Accordion Solo - Shirley Glick
Tap Dance - Carolyn Sue Birt
Violin Trio - Leota Boesen, Stephanie Durham, Suzanne Robertson.

The other group acts are as follows:
Jug Band - Cloverdale Girls' Club
Louisiana Hayride - Busy Bees of Russell Twp.

The judges of the contest were Dr. Milton Trusler, of DePauw University and Frank Puckett of the Daily Banner. Trophies were presented to the top winners of the category and they were sponsored by the Down Beat Record Shop, Jonathan Houck. A lot of the credit of the success of this contest must go to the ones that worked behind the scenes.

I received a notice recently of a Leadership Training Camp which will be held at the State 4-H Center this summer. This program is called Quibache and it is open to any boy or girl in the state of Indiana. There will be five camps held this year the dates being July 21st-25th, July 26th-August 1st, August 11th-15th for ages 16 to 18 years, and August 18th-22nd, August 25th-29th for ages 12 to 15 years.

"A member of my family was killed. He was killed by a white man. But we have to make an effort in the United States to go beyond these rather difficult times," he said.

"What we need in the United States is not division. What we need in the United States is not hatred," Kennedy said. "What we need in the United States is not violence--what we need is love, wisdom and compassion one toward another and a feeling of justice toward those who still suffer in our country whether they be white or whether they be black."

Prayers Suggested
"Return home and say a prayer for the family of Martin Luther King," Kennedy urged his listeners. "But more important, say a prayer for our own country which all of us love, a prayer for understanding and that compassion of which I spoke. We shall have difficult times. We have had difficult times. It is not the end of violence. It is not the end of lawlessness. It is not the end of disorder."

"But the vast majority of white people... the vast majority of black people want to live together, want to improve the quality of our lives and want justice for all human beings that abide in our land."

There were a few cries from young Negroes at the outer edges of the audience of "black power, black power." But the several hundred men, women and children listening, both Negro and white, jostled together without malice and applauded Kennedy.

Those who were extra busy helping with the contest were: Teddy Brewer, Maurine McKee, Steve Albin, Terry Clifford, Nancy Farmer, Kathy Sutherlin, Jonnan Klebusch, and Jackie Patterson. Also the adult leaders of the girls' did an exception job in helping get the act co-ordinated.

On Saturday, March 30th, the 4-H Electric Workshop was held at the Fairgrounds. This workshop was to acquaint boys and girls, parents and leaders with requirements of the electric project. There were 53 members, parents, leaders present. The program was given by Dottie Buechler of Public Service, Jim Knotts of Parke County R.E.M.C. and Lester Porter of Hendricks County R.E.M.C., Dale and David Brune, Jerry Cradick, Jim Nichols, also helped with the program by bringing in their previous year's exhibits to put on display. Door prizes were sponsored by the members who presented the program, Division I winners were Tom Albin, and Mike Zaring; Division II winners were Steve Edwards and Gary Zeiner; Division III winners were Mike Jarvis and Frank Kays; Division IV winner was Darrell Goode; Division V winner was Jim Jackson. These door prizes were articles which will help them to complete their project.

Also on Saturday, a Clean-Up was held at the Fairgrounds by the 4-H Jr. Leaders. We really appreciate the work of these Jr. Leaders in picking up some of the articles that had been thrown down during the winter. This will help in the summer maintenance program. 4-H enrollment is still open to boys and girls in Putnam County. Enrollment can be made by contacting the County Extension office; the enrollment will be open until June 1st.

At a planning meeting of Agents of Parke, Vermillion, Owen, and Putnam county, the 1968 4-H camp program was planned. This year's camp will take a new look as far as classes are concerned. We plan to have classes in Yell leading and Baton twirling, Modeling and grooming for the girls. For the boys we have classes in Basketball, Football, Volleyball, Conservation and safety by the State Police. The camp this year will be held June 9th-12th.

If any of the organizations need a top-flight speaker to speak on a subject of nutrition and the development of youth, Becky McFarland of Bainbridge, would be a good person to contact. Becky attended the State Youth Power Conference at Indianapolis this spring. This conference is concerned with the development of Youth and the importance of food development.

The cost of this camp is $17.00 per delegate. The purpose of this program is the development of the whole individual, which includes spiritual, mental, physical, and social development of the individuals. This camp is run by members of the State 4-H Staff. In previous years, Putnam County has had two delegates go, those being Tonya Harris and Sally Sendmeyer of Greencastle. They have been very excited about the value of this camp. For more information, concerning this camp contact me, at the County Extension Office.

guarded king of hearts in addition to the excellent suit his first three plays revealed.

So South goes up with the ace, hoping either to drop the singleton king or eventually set up an endplay against East.

When East plays the six on the ace, South cashes the A-K of clubs, eliminating that suit, and then puts East on lead with a trump.

East cannot afford a club return, since that would permit declarer to ruff while discarding a spade from dummy, so he returns a spade. Declarer wins in dummy (with the nine or jack, depending on what West plays), and takes another spade finesse to bring home the contract.

Note that if South takes the trump finesse he goes down. East would then have a safe exit card (a club or a heart) and East-West would eventually score a spade trick with proper defense.

Strangely enough, the contract can always be defeated by an unusual defensive play. If East is clever enough to foresee the impending endplay, he can avoid it. All he has to do is ruff West's third diamond lead with the king of hearts and return anything but a spade. Declarer is helpless against this defense.

It just goes to show that it sometimes pays to trump your partner's trick. The trick is to know when to do it.

Properly used, the elimination play can save many a contract. Its purpose is to compel a defender, at the critical moment, to make a play disadvantageous to his side.

Here is a simple case. South is in four hearts and West leads three high diamonds, declarer ruffing the third one.
